

AIM Overseas Privacy Policy

AIM Overseas respects the privacy of internet users, visitors to this website and users of our services.

We do not use cookies and do not store or install any additional information or items on your computer.

If you sign up for AIM Overseas' newsletters or email notifications you will be asked to provide a limited amount of personal information. We will not give this information to anyone, unless required by law, and you have the right to opt in and out of AIM Overseas' communications at any time.

If you sign up for an AIM Overseas program, we will only use your personal information for the purpose of arranging your program overseas and contacting the appropriate organisations – namely your home institution and your host institution. If you do not want us contacting these organisations, please let us know at the time of your application.

AIM Overseas' site contains links to a number of other organisations. This policy doesn't apply to them and we don't endorse their privacy policies. If you're worried, be sure to check their sites for their policies on privacy and personal information.

This policy may be updated from time to time and this will be noted on our website. The privacy policy that is in place when you supply any personal details is the policy that will govern how we use your information.
